As part of the established Gender and Diversity Initiative at the Faculty of Earth Sciences, Geography and Astronomy, this half-day interactive workshop aims at identifying gender- and mobility-related challenges and developing ideas for initiatives, actions and support for FGGA scientists.

The Faculty invites all interested members of scientific staff to

- identify the challenges regarding gender roles and mobility for scientists
- acknowledge the unequal impacts depending on the personal situations considering intersecting social dimensions like gender, family status (and care obligations), socio-cultural background, ...
- exchange topic-related experiences at the different career levels and within different organizational units (at our Faculty and beyond),
- share visions, suggestions, and recommendations for a positive gender-sensitive future at our faculty.

Aim of the interactive workshop: Working out specific ideas and first steps for gender-sensitive changes at our Faculty together.

We look forward to welcoming you!
